FEARFUL COURAGE

Let the morning bring me word of your unfailing love, for I have put my trust in you. (Psalm 143:8)

A Message from God

Let go, my child.

Your ongoing anxieties can be, on occasion,
a catalyst for positive action.

But more so,
your anxieties serve as shackles,
binding your heart, your mind, your body
into frozen inaction, accompanied with unhealthy circular thoughts—
thoughts that fail to change circumstances, or that allow Me to accompany you intimately.

So, as your inner storms rage,
relax in Me—sit quietly awhile.
Learn again to trust Me,
to trust my abiding presence,
to be reminded that you are already sufficiently equipped to live fully,
even in the seemingly unfixable world you inhabit.

Be one with Me.
Together,
we will find new paths, built upon the foundations of your rich life experiences that bring you to this place today.

Let go, my child.

Measuring Success in Spiritual Care

By Paul Riddle, Director of Spiritual Care - Houston

One afternoon I was having lunch with Ruby (not her real name), who was interested in becoming a Lifeline pastoral care volunteer. At one point in the conversation, an expression of thoughtfulness, mixed with concern, came across her face. “You look pensive. What’s on your mind?” I asked. “I was just wondering,” she replied, “How do you know when a visit has been a success?”

I thought for a moment and said, “If you communicate the love and care of God to the person you’re with, through your presence, the visit is a success.” Ruby’s face brightened, and she looked relieved. “I can do that!” she declared.

Ruby was worried that she would be expected to offer deep words of wisdom, or have answers to her patients’ profound spiritual questions, and she was afraid she might not be up to the task. It was liberating to her to hear that what mattered most was for her to show up and care, that her presence (actually God’s presence in her) was sufficient.

It seems to me that presence is what spiritual care is all about. We have the impulse to care because of God’s presence within us – and because of our awareness of God’s presence for us at many points in our lives. Our presence with patients and their families provides a tangible reminder of God’s presence with them.

May each of us be open to God’s presence, and open to the opportunities God places before us to be present with and for others.

Celebrating A Decade of Blessing!

By Tom Nuckels, Director of Spiritual Care - Central Texas

July 1st 2018 marked the conclusion of our tenth year bringing compassionate care to patients and their families in Central Texas. In the beginning, we were able to rely on the success of Lifeline's ministry in Houston and Dallas. There was, however, no model for working across such a broad geographical area such as Central Texas. With the encouragement and support of Lifeline's staff and local church leaders, the work began and flourished with capable and dedicated volunteers coming from area churches including Westover Hills, Cameron Road, University Avenue, and Brentwood Oaks in Austin; Westside, Round Rock; Southern Hills, Buda; Georgetown; Belton; Northside, Temple; and Lake Shore Dr., Waco.

Today, our volunteers visit patients in 26 hospitals, from Seton Medical Center, Hays in Kyle to Baylor Scott and White Hillcrest Hospital in Waco, a distance just over 100 miles. To do so, some volunteers are assigned to a specific hospital and have the privilege to visit patient populations there. Others visit only referrals which come from church members, friends, family, as well as hospital chaplains.

It has been my privilege to work alongside of many great servants and staff members. In 2008, Dan Bonner of the Brentwood Oaks church began assisting me as a volunteer and in the training of others. Since that time, Joy Dillman and Michele Thompson have joined our training team. In 2011, Valerie Crim came on board as my valuable assistant. There have been many others, however, including the hard-working Soft Touch ministry teams who volunteer countless hours sewing, stuffing, and delivering special pillows geared to patients.

In our first year, Lifeline volunteers logged 600 hours and visited 1800 patients, family and hospital staff. These stats have continued to grow. In 2017, our volunteers logged over 2000 hours and made approximately 8,000 visits to hurting souls.

In 2016, we began to train summer interns who spend twelve weeks in a course of supervised practice of ministry. This is in cooperation with Austin Graduate School of Theology who award our interns with three hours of credit. Thus far, we have had students from York College, ACU, Pepperdine, and Oklahoma Christian.

What's next? Recently, we were able to train a group of wonderful folks with the Marble Falls Church of Christ. There is a good possibility that our volunteers could be a part of the Baylor Scott and White "Good Friend" program in that hospital, which utilizes volunteers in providing pastoral care to patients. I am excited to be a part of this future growth of Lifeline's Central Texas ministry.

So, thank you for our first ten years; for your time, your energy, your gifts of love on behalf of the thousands of patients, their families and staff of the hospitals we serve. We look forward with anticipation to the journey of the next ten years. May God be praised!

The Day I Went Blind

By David Martin, Director of Spiritual Care - Tarrant County

O.K. It was just one eye. But it was MY eye. When I noticed a smudge in my vision late January, I assumed it was a scratched lens. I ordered a new pair of glasses, and went about my business. A couple of weeks went by, then while conducting a workshop, I noticed a small curtain drawing its ominous shadow across my line of sight.

The next day, my optometrist received a panicked call. The good doctor got me in at 9:45 AM. By 1:30 that afternoon, I was sitting in front of a retinal specialist to address my detached retina. Twenty-four hours later, surgery was performed to save my eyesight. Seven days flat on my face followed, with lots of time to imagine the worst.

For six weeks, blindness engulfed half my world. Fear gripped my heart on several occasions. Although the surgery had a 90% success rate, I wondered if I was in that 10%.

Driving with one eye is no fun. Driving at night was impossible. For several weeks, my spouse walked on my right side to keep me from bumping into people. This native West Texan doesn't do dependence well.

Here are some challenging lessons I've learned: 1) It's hard not to whine. 2) You don't feel like praying. You feel like crying (then you are back to the whining thing)! 3) When physically weak, you are driven deeper into dependence on God, and others.

Here some things that weren't encouraging: 1) Advice...of any kind. My highly specialized surgeon and I will take care of my eye. We have left no stone unturned. 2) Stories of failed procedures. Seriously, beloved, need I say more?

What did help: 1) People who called, then let me talk without interruption for several minutes (even allowing me to whine a little bit)! These friends didn't stoop to advice-giving. Eventually, I got around to talking about my faith in healing, or in blindness. 2) People that said they loved me and were praying for me. That was comforting.

This Bible verse continues to encourage me. "For now we see in a mirror dimly, but then face to face. Now I know in part: then I shall know fully, even as I have been fully known."

No matter the outcome, (and things are looking hopeful), some day I will see clearly. Even if my vision is not clear, I will understand. For the One who fully knows me has blazed this trail before. I can follow the Light with one good eye.

A Storm, Perseverance, And A Hallelujah

By Jesse Stroup, Director of Spiritual Care - Dallas

The average stay of a patient in the hospital is four days. However, some are there for weeks, and even months. For patients, family, staff, and chaplains, long illnesses require perseverance. Sometimes there is a Hallelujah at the end! Let me tell you about Buddy.

During our initial visit, I learned Buddy had driven from his home two hours away to the VA Emergency Dept. His legs were hurting. Walking and breathing were difficult. The ED doctor began several tests. A week later I saw Buddy, and his symptoms were worse, and he still had no diagnosis. In his seventies, he had no family visitors. His medical power of attorney was a lawyer. He had family affiliations with Churches of Christ in TN, but he had not been in fellowship with a congregation for several years. Buddy told me a prayer “wouldn’t hurt,” but he was not really into God much. The next week I visited Buddy in ICU. Barely able to speak and in great pain, he said, “I have Guillain-Barre’ virus, a disease of the peripheral nerves in which there is numbness and weakness in the limbs. It usually develops after a lung infection.”

The next time I saw Buddy, he was intubated, thrashing from side to side in bed with restraints. I think he knew when I was praying over him. The medical staff knew this: if recovery was in his future, it would take a long time. Buddy’s six weeks in ICU challenged my faith and the faith of others at a morning prayer group who were supportive of him and me. Slowly he began to be able to breathe on his own, plus he was not thrashing in bed. He could move only one arm but neither leg. By pointing to letters on a clipboard with a trembling hand he got this message to me, “Keep praying.” I knew a spiritual transformation was taking place.

After much medical treatment and physical therapy—three steps forward and two back—I was privileged to help Buddy load his patient belongings into his car on the VA parking lot to drive home. Before he left I asked him, “How have you experienced the past five months in the hospital? Was it an enlightenment, or a test, or an experience of time and chance that happens to everyone? “Oh, it was a physical and spiritual test for me, and God won! I am thankful to God and to many with Lifeline who prayed and supported me spiritually. God brought me through. The prayers and verses we shared were helpful, but the old hymns we played on the CD and sang really lifted my spirits the most.”

I have talked with Buddy several times since he has been home, and he is recovering both physically and spiritually in his familiar surroundings. And for me that’s a big Hallelujah!

Partners in Compassion

By Rosa Winfrey, Director of Compassionate Touch

"Compassion is not just feeling with someone but seeking to change the situation. If you are going to be compassionate, be prepared for action." – Desmond Tutu

I had the pleasure a few months ago of visiting with Patti Hall, a social worker at Children's Dialysis Clinic of Central Texas. Children's Dialysis Clinic of Central Texas is a member of the Dialysis Clinic, Inc., family. Compassionate Touch has been partnering with them since 2017 assisting the needs of pediatric and teen dialysis patients faced with kidney disease. These children and teens are supported by Compassionate Touch donors in the Central Texas area.

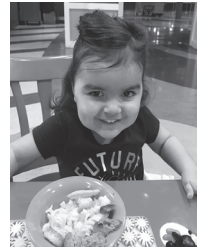

Patti writes –

At our pediatric clinic in Austin, Texas, many of our patients are infants and young children such as Zeyenp (shown in photo) who were born with kidney disease. Parents of these children endure emotional and financial stress as they face difficult decisions choosing medical care for their babies and toddlers. It can be heart wrenching to know that your new baby will need a kidney transplant by the time he is two. The goal for pediatric kidney patients is to receive a kidney transplant.

Life is also challenging for our teen patients who must coordinate their dialysis treatments with school and normal teen life activities. Some teens are in-center three days a week for approximately four hours at a time. We work with families to find the type of dialysis that best suits their needs in the least intrusive way possible.

Forming our collaboration with Compassionate Touch means we have another resource that can assist Mila (shown in photo) and other families with working through the financial stress often associated with pediatric kidney disease and their journey toward a transplant. We are incredibly grateful to Compassionate Touch for the assistance they provide."

– Patti Hall, LMSW

Compassionate Touch is grateful to our partners of compassion for their outpouring of love and support for patients and families throughout the five Texas cities we serve. The generosity shown by foundations, corporations and individuals not only shows the compassionate spirit of others, but surely a definitive course of action.

We would like to welcome Andrea Bruna who joined our staff as Compassionate Touch Application Administrator in June. She is a graduate of the University of Houston where she majored in Psychology. Andrea will be overseeing the operations of processing applications and funding for patients and families.

Compassionate Touch has just completed a major upgrade of its system and software applications. The modifications will make our program operate more efficiently for social workers. Furthermore, it will allow us the capability to execute additional measures to protect the privacy information of those we serve.

"Providing Emergency Short-term Resources to Patients and Caregivers"

Central Texas Happenings

Chuck Hix, Development Officer

Anyone who has ever lived in or visited Austin, Texas and the surrounding towns, better known as Central Texas, has found that it is an area that embraces change. With that in mind, each year the Central Texas Development Board, Dr. Tom Nuckels and myself try our very best to comply with the traditions of the area and re-invent our partnership efforts as well as the annual Benefit Dinner. We believe this was accomplished again this year.

On April 24th, we had the first Central Texas Partnership Dinner. A small group of people came together with a goal of raising a significant amount of money for Lifeline Chaplaincy and Compassionate Touch. Vince Young Steakhouse was the venue for this dinner and there were 19 in attendance. The evening offered small intimate conversations with a short video program. At the end of the evening $30,000.00 had been raised or committed. I would like to offer my special thanks to Jeff & Debra Bailey, Brad and Debra McCoy and to Mike Gravois, our newest addition to the Lifeline family. Mike has accepted the position of Director of Development in Dallas.

On June 14th, we heard the words "Going Once, Going Twice, GONE." Yes, it was a LIVE Auction at the United Heritage Center Dell Diamond. Mike and Sherri Hanley, professional auctioneers, provided us with entertainment as well as our fundraising event. Twelve exciting packages were offered ranging from trips to Colorado, New Mexico and the always popular Fredericksburg. Vince Young Steakhouse and others provided gift certificates. Summer get-a-way packages to fun parks all over Texas and a Holiday Inn Vacation Club get-a-way up to 6 consecutive nights to your choice of Branson, Galveston, Gatlinburg TN, Las Vegas, Myrtle Beach, Orlando, Scottsdale, Williamsburg and more. How can you beat that? Wow. The night was a HUGE success, we raised an all-time high in donations and maxed out the capacity of the venue. If you did not attend, you missed out.

This year we honored the following people. Weldon Fritz received the Dan Bonner Award for Outstanding Spiritual Care with patients. Georgia Seals received the Lifeline Partners Award for her work with the Soft Touch pillow ministry. We also were glad to surprise Bill & Sue Powell with the Vance and Sarah Lynch Philanthropy Award for their countless hours of selfless service and support. We also honored Sarah Lynch for the many years of hard work that she has put into Lifeline Chaplaincy, especially with our silent auctions. Sarah and Vance were the first to offer financial support for the startup of Lifeline in Central Texas. This year, Sarah stepped down from the development board but continues to support the work and mission of Lifeline Chaplaincy. Thank you, Sarah!

Finally, to the countless others of you who enable us to continue to minister to those who are ill and hurting, we are eternally grateful.
